

Peace and Reconciliation

How can divided societies build lasting peace? In this course, you'll study the dynamics of conflict and multiple paths to building a sustainable just peace.

Over spring break, we will travel to Northern Ireland where you'll meet politicians, peacebuilders, researchers, religious leaders, and artists who have firsthand experience with the peace process. You'll gain unique insights that bring classroom concepts to life, inviting you to reflect on your role in advancing peace and justice in our local and global communities.

Throughout the course, you'll also examine other post-conflict societies, including South Africa, Sierra Leone, Angola, Bosnia-Herzegovina, and Cambodia, developing a global perspective on the challenges and possibilities of peacebuilding.

Please note this course is open to all BCLA students, but that IR majors/minors will be prioritized.

From divided societies to shared futures. Discover peacebuilding in action.

POLS / PJST / IRST
3630 3998 3998

COURSE DETAILS

Course Name: Peace and Reconciliation

Travel Location: Belfast, N. Ireland

Travel Dates: 26 Feb-6 March, 2027

Class Time: MW 1:45-3:25pm

Core Designations: Interdisciplinary Connections, Engaged Learning for Mission flag

Professor: Jennifer Ramos

Lab Fee: $1,340

Financial assistance available for all BCLA Students

Questions? Email
Jennifer.Ramos@lmu.edu or bclaadvising@lmu.edu

For more info, visit bellarmine.lmu.edu/global

LMU

Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts